Summary of the purpose of the framework

Defining Apprenticeships

An Apprenticeship is a job with an accompanying skills development programme designed by employers in the sector. It allows the apprentice to gain technical knowledge and real practical experience, along with functional and personal skills, required for their immediate job and future career. These are acquired through a mix of learning in the workplace, formal off the job training and the opportunity to practice and embed new skills in a real work context. This broader mix differentiates the Apprenticeship experience from training delivered to meet narrowly focused job needs.

All apprentices commencing their Apprenticeship must have an Apprenticeship Agreement between the employer and the apprentice. This can be used to reinforce the understanding of the requirements of the Apprenticeship.

On completion of the Apprenticeship the apprentice must be able to undertake the full range of duties, in the range of circumstances appropriate to the job, confidently and competently to the standard set by the industry.

This apprenticeship framework provides a vocational pathway into the profession of sports development. The framework will ensure there are people with the organisational skills and political and social awareness to succeed in this important part of the sport and active leisure industry.

This apprenticeship can provide a progression opportunity for apprentices on an intermediate level programme as well as progression for those already working in the sector.

This advanced programme is also suitable for those who wish to change their careers and retrain to enter the sector at this level. Many people who work in sports development will be expected to hold a degree level qualification. This framework provides a pathway in to the sector for situations where the vocational route is appropriate and could be particularly useful for apprentices who have been former recipients of sports development services and become leaders or coaches before wishing to progress to a sports development role.

Aims and objectives of this framework (England)

It is estimated that there are between 4000 and 5000 people working in the sports development sector in the UK. Sports development aims to improve access to sport and physical activity for people of all ages and abilities, develop communities through the use of sport and physical activity and address wider social inclusion agendas. The work is challenging and varied and may include the development of performance sport, community sport and physical activity and/or participation for particular target groups. Sports development involves organising projects, programmes, information and training to encourage people to increase their activity and have a healthier lifestyle or participate in their community.

Sports development may have one or more of the following aims or missions:

- Social justice
- Sustainable communities
- Community development
- Community safety
- Crime reduction
- Equitable practice
- Health promotion
- Social inclusion
- Social control
- Empowerment
- Success in sport
- Personal/character development
- Rehabilitation
- Self help
- Devolution
- Self determination
- Inclusion in a specific faith or community agenda
- Ethical practice
- Working and learning together
- Collective action
- Social education
- Empowerment

The most common job in sports development is the sports development officer and that job correlates with the level of this framework. Sports development officers will typically be responsible for:

- working with local communities to identify the need and demand for new activities
- improving access to sport for young people, people with disabilities and people from disadvantaged communities
- supporting Community amateur sports clubs
- organising National Governing Body qualification courses
- organising sport and physical activity events
- supporting initiatives to reduce crime and rehabilitate offenders.

Typical tasks involved in sports development can include:
• making sure resources are used and all available funding is accessed
• putting local and national policies into practice
• identifying opportunities for funding
• organising, promoting and running projects
• monitoring and evaluating projects
• attending meetings, seminars and conferences
• finding and training suitable staff, coaches and volunteers for projects
• managing resources and budgets.

These are all reflected in the National Occupational Standards for sports development and the qualifications derived from the standards.

Sports development officers sometimes promote sport in general, working for a County Sports Partnership or local authority, or concentrate on a specific sport, working for a national governing body (NGB) as a sports specific development officer.

This framework contributes towards:

• meeting the generic skills priorities for the sector including communication, team working, customer services and employability skills
• ensuring sports development professionals understand and can apply social and political knowledge to organise and manage effective sports services
• bringing about a more diverse workforce which reflects the community where sports development services are delivered
• allowing, where fundable, for graduates to demonstrate on the job competence
• providing a progression pathway to those who hold activity leadership or coaching qualifications but whose role has broadened beyond session delivery to encompass organisation, influencing policy and managing

How will the framework achieve the above objectives?

• The framework will address the issue of generic skills priorities as all of these skills from customer services to communication and team working are essential parts of the framework and apprentices will be required to learn, use and practice these skills both by obtaining functional skills qualifications and studying for both the competence and knowledge element of the programme.
• The qualifications contributing to a better skilled workforce within the sector will not only be the competence and the knowledge elements but also the additional employer's requirement which will give a great opportunity to tailor the apprentices' training programme to the employers' / customers' particular needs and for apprentices to gain additional technical skills.
• Due to the recession, it is important that the sector recognises the value of apprenticeship programmes in up skilling the sports development workforce and the value of apprentices to their businesses. Having a workforce grown internally by apprenticeship programmes ensures that businesses are supplied with a workforce who will have not only the soft skills but also the specific technical skills to work and progress within the industry making it a successful business for the employer and a quality experience for the customers.

- The framework will provide clear progression to further specialist courses allowing continuing professional development, particularly in sports management areas.
- The apprenticeship will build further confidence in our sector from other professions such as youth work and community development.
Entry conditions for this framework

This apprenticeship framework provides a vocational pathway in to the profession of sports development.

The framework will ensure there are people with the organisational skills and political and social awareness to succeed in this important part of the sport and active leisure industry. This apprenticeship can provide a progression opportunity for apprentices on an intermediate level programme as well as progression for those already working in the sector.

This advanced programme is also suitable for those who wish to change their careers and retrain to enter the sector at this level. Many people who work in sports development will be expected to hold a degree level qualification. This framework provides a pathway in to the sector for situations where the vocational route is appropriate and could be particularly useful for apprentices who have been former recipients of sports development services and become leaders or coaches before wishing to progress to a sports development role.

It is good practice that apprentices are interviewed by both their employer and training provider and undergo a centre devised initial assessment, testing their literacy and numeracy skills as well as their attitude to the workplace and customers.

Potential apprentices should have a positive, motivating, can do attitude and be willing to work both as part of a team or on their own. They should be motivated to succeed. Potential apprentices are expected to have the skills to work with and motivate a variety of different clients they will work with. Apprentices might also need to undergo police checks for example when working with vulnerable adults and children. It is an important aspect of the programme that the apprentices actually have the opportunity to do real sports development tasks; they are not just coaches doing a bit of organising, they are deciding and influencing strategy and policy which is what sports development is all about.

Apprentices will be given the opportunity to gain literacy and numeracy qualifications alongside their industry related skills and qualifications.

It is not a mandatory part of this framework to achieve ICT qualifications, although apprentices are encouraged to take every opportunity to broaden their skills base.

Relationship between competence and knowledge qualifications

K1 - K7 provides the underpinning knowledge to C1.

A range of qualifications with a variety of credit values are available, the learner and employer could choose the qualifications most suited to the learners' needs and specific job roles. For example, for an apprentice working in a setting where they are responsible for not only managing relationships with partners but also for managing volunteers, the most appropriate selection would be the Level 3 Certificate in Managing Volunteers.

For advice and guidance on selecting the most appropriate knowledge qualification, providers and employers are welcome to contact SkillActive on an individual learner basis / case.
Transferable skills (England)

Functional Skills / GCSE (with enhanced functional content) and Key Skills (England)

Apprentices must complete or have completed one of the English transferable skills qualifications and one of the Mathematical transferable skills qualifications listed below in order to successfully complete their Apprenticeship and this will carry the QCF five credit values. If they do not have these qualifications as part of their evidence an Apprenticeship certificate cannot be awarded.

Progression routes into and from this pathway

PROGRESSION INTO THIS ADVANCED PROGRAMME

There are no pre-defined entry routes, however learners wishing to progress into this apprenticeship programme could come from a variety of backgrounds with a variety of qualifications. These might include diplomas, A levels, vocational training routes and intermediate level apprenticeships such as the Intermediate Level Apprenticeship in Activity Leadership.

This apprenticeship can provide a progression opportunity for apprentices on an intermediate level programme as well as progression for those already working in the sector. To gain progression into the framework potential apprentices need access to work at the organising/policy (local policy) level in sport as that is what sports development essentially is.

This advanced programme is also suitable for those who wish to change their careers and retrain to enter the sector at this level. Many people who work in sports development will be expected to hold a degree level qualification. This framework provides a pathway in to the sector for situations where the vocational route is appropriate and could be particularly useful for apprentices who have been former recipients of sports development services and become leaders or coaches before wishing to progress to a sports development role.

PROGRESSION FROM THIS ADVANCED PROGRAMME

On completion of this programme, apprentices can work in the sector as Sports Development Officers covering a wide range of roles ranging from working with local communities to supporting amateur sports clubs or working with a variety of partners in organising and supporting initiatives to reduce crime and rehabilitate offenders.

Apprentices can also progress in to level 4 qualifications and job roles such as senior sports development officer or sports development manager.

Horizontal progression would include in to management and leadership roles and further qualifications in this area, such as Sports Development, Marketing, Business or even Social Sciences or Social Policy.

It is also possible for apprentices to progress onto a variety of vocational qualifications allowing them to further their portfolio of skills, these could come from the sport sector or other sectors with links to sports development such as health, youthwork or justice.

Please also check the SkillsActive Careers site for further information on progression opportunities and more detailed information on available job roles in the sector: www.skillsactive.com/careers.

CERTIFICATION

On completion of all components of this apprenticeship programme and meeting the full framework requirement, learners or training providers/employers on the learners' behalf and authorized by the learner must apply to the relevant Certifying Body to request the overarching apprenticeship certificate. For further information on this process please check the Apprenticeship Certification England (ACE) website on www.acecerts.co.uk.

How equality and diversity will be met

This advanced level apprenticeship aims to promote diversity, opportunity and inclusion by offering a high quality learning experience. The delivery of this programme must be in a setting free from prejudice and discrimination where all learners can contribute fully and freely and feel valued.

Employers/providers must be able to demonstrate their selection, recruitment and employment practices are in line with the Equality Act 2010 and there are no overt or covert discriminatory practices in relation to any of the following protected characteristics: age; disability; gender reassignment; marriage and civil partnerships; pregnancy and maternity; race; religion or belief; sex; sexual orientation; and socio-economic disadvantage.

ISSUES, BARRIERS AND ACTIONS

The current economic climate has affected every aspect of sports and recreation, including community focused roles as well and staff working in these areas have experienced reduced support in training and development due to the cost. However, this is where an advanced apprenticeship programme can contribute, by ensuring that those interested in entering the sector or those who are already employed in the sector are given the opportunity to gain and develop their knowledge and skills despite the current economic difficulties to ensure they stand out and succeed.

A significant proportion of the sports development workforce is female and although they have a presence across all roles, this decreases as the roles become more senior. Having advanced apprenticeship programmes on offer in our sector makes it possible for all members of staff to develop their skills and knowledge. Therefore the framework can contribute to encouraging more women to develop their skills to enable them to fill more senior roles.

By having an open access, prejudice and discrimination free recruitment process to our apprenticeship programmes, we are encouraging anyone interested from any race, religion and ethnicity to enter the sector, and this way we can make a small contribution to trying to ensure the ethnicity balance will improve over a period of time.
On and off the job guided learning (England)

Total GLH for each pathway

Legal Requirement:
The Specification of Apprenticeship Standards England (SASE) states that apprentices must complete a minimum of 280 Guided Learning Hours (GLH) per year when undertaking an Advanced Level Apprenticeship. A minimum of 100 GLH (or 30% of total GLH whichever is greater) must be completed each year of the programme away from the apprentice’s immediate area and pressure of work (off the job).

Definition:
ON THE JOB = Learning which encourages and enables the apprentice to demonstrate practical job-related skills and to practise and apply these skills in the context of the job. This type of learning will be delivered in the workplace and through practical experience of doing the job.

OFF THE JOB = Learning which encourages and enables the apprentice to develop the technical skills of the job and to develop their knowledge of theoretical concepts across a range of contexts and the wider market. This type of guided learning will be delivered away from the immediate pressures of the job. It may be delivered in the workplace, in a college or training provider premises.

The total guided learning hours for this framework is set at 538 GLH and we advise the framework to be completed within 18 months. Therefore the total GLH for year one of this programme will be 358 GLH which exceeds the minimum legal requirement of 280 GLH per year.

The total amount of 538 GLH is made up of the following framework components:

- GLH associated with the competence qualification (277 GLH)
- GLH associated with the knowledge qualification (60 GLH)
- GLH associated with the employee rights and responsibilities qualification (61 GLH)
- GLH associated with the transferrable skills qualifications (90 GLH - 45 GLH per skill)
- additional GLH needed for apprentices to ensure they understand and can apply social and political knowledge to organise and manage effective sports services (50 GLH)

Minimum off-the-job guided learning hours

The total off the job GLH will be set at 200 GLH for this framework.
This is made up of the following components of the framework:

- the knowledge qualification (60 GLH)
- transferrable skills (90 GLH)
- part of the employee rights and responsibilities qualification (50 GLH)

The recommended off the job training GLH for year one will be 133 GLH.

How this requirement will be met

This requirement will be met via debriefing sessions, supervision, team sessions, shift handovers and activities similar to the above listed where the learner / apprentice is away from the pressures of the workplace and / but are supported and mentored by fellow workers and management and completion of the knowledge qualification and Key Skills or Functional Skills assessment.

The provider will be required to gather evidence of this achievement where it occurs outside of formal certification of a qualification.

We propose that this will be evidenced through apprentices holding an Active Passport, which is an online skills passport supported by leading employers and training providers. It allows learners to easily build and maintain a verified record of their skills, qualifications and achievements and keeps track of individuals' progress and commitment to their career and professional development.

For more information and guidance on active passports, providers and employers can visit the active passport website www.activepassport.com and also contact SkillsActive.

Minimum on-the-job guided learning hours

The total on the job guided learning hours for this framework is set at 338 GLH and we advise the framework to be completed within 18 months.

This is made up of the following components of the framework:

- competence qualification qualification (277 GLH)
- remainder of the employee rights and responsibilities qualification (11 GLH)
- additional time needed for apprentices to ensure they understand and can apply social and political knowledge to organise and manage effective sports services (50 GLH)

Out of this, a total of 225 GLH has to be completed on the job in the first year on programme.

How this requirement will be met
This requirement will be met by the apprentices delivering their daily job roles, gaining technical experience as well as time acquiring knowledge and skills to achieve the competence requirement set out by the apprenticeship programme / framework.

The provider will be required to gather evidence of this achievement where it occurs outside the formal certification of a qualification.

We propose that this could also be evidenced through apprentices holding an Active Passport, which is an online skills passport supported by leading employers and training providers. It allows learners to easily build and maintain a verified record of their skills, qualifications and achievements and keeps track of individuals' progress and commitment to their career and professional development.

For more information and guidance on active passports, providers and employers can visit the active passport website www.activepassport.com and also contact SkillsActive.
